Visual Rehab After Neurological Events

Seeing the World Through New Eyes

Feeling lost in determining a treatment plan with a neurological client? Have you asked yourself:

- What is the best evidence-based therapy protocol?
- How do you know if you are facing a field loss or a neglect?
- How do you determine visual function when your client is confused?
- Is this a vision or cognitive impairment?

Robert has been in that fog and come out the other side with wonderful, functional, and cost-consciousness options to show and share. He sustains that therapy should be specific to the client's challenge and that requires an astute awareness of the impairment. This insight comes from clear assessments that are revealed in this course, along with functional treatment interventions to ensure successful therapy sessions. Robert shares anecdotes and case studies that highlight how the protocols can be put in to practice. These stories assist in enlightening the inexperienced therapist and commiserating with the experienced therapist. The course content is largely interactive and offers numerous lab sessions proving the engaging experience that therapists crave!
